

STEMFest 2018 Conference | November 7, 2018

SHAPE THE FUTURE WITH US

Halifax Convention Centre Halifax, Nova Scotia

Partner with STEMFest 2018

STEMFest is an international conference festival that brings together leading experts in science, technology, engineering, and mathematics to discuss policy, education, industry, and academia.

Nova Scotia is fertile ground for STEM (science, technology, engineering, and mathematics) activity and innovation, and STEMFest 2018 is our chance to showcase our talent to the world. STEMFest is a collection of conferences and events exploring social, industrial, and economic development through the world of STEM education and innovation.

Scientists, Technologists, Engineers, Mathematicians and others engaged in the STEM fields conduct research, make new discoveries and create applications that expand and benefit our world every day. This conference will boost awareness of local research, enterprises, and economic opportunities, and foster pride in our region as a hub for STEM.

Designed for a corporate audience, keynote speakers and panelists will showcase how STEM related activities are economically relevant to business, government and consumers. As our reliance on technology increases, our economy will continue to demand jobs that require science, technology, engineering and mathematics skills.

Partnership levels provide the opportunity for companies, institutions, and organizations to gain important recognition as a leader in the promotion of all aspects of STEM.

This is an opportunity you won't want to miss.

Partner with STEMFest 2018 and gain important recognition as a leader in the promotion of all aspects of STEM.
